The final preparations for the departure of the university crew for New London will be made this week. On Wednesday the launch Yale will be hauled up and refitted in preparation for her trip to New London. The shells will be shipped by boat on Friday and the crew will go down on Saturday afternoon in the time to row up to the quarters on the river in the evening. The coaches at New London will be R. J. Cook '76, S. B. Ives '93 and P. R. Bolton '89 S. The average weight of the crew has dropped to 176 pounds.

The following members of the senior class in the law school were voted worthy of admission to the bar by the Hartford County Bar association on Friday: H. S. Bullard, B. M. Holden, W. C. Hungerford, G. W. Klett and H. K. Smith.

F. H. Simmons '93, of the freshman nine, has left college temporarily because of a badly strained ankle.

A co-operative society similar to those at Yale and Harvard has been formed at Cornell.

The Intercollegiate meeting held at Berkeley Oval on Saturday was the twentieth annual meeting since the formation of the organization in 1876. Yale has won the games five times—in 1887, 1888, 1889, 1894 and 1895. Harvard won them from 1890 to 1893, with the two exceptions in Yale's favor. Columbia won in 1877, 1878 and 1879. Princeton's only victory was in 1876.

MAY BE NO YALE-HARVARD GAME.

Samuel J. Elder, a member of the committee of Yale university before whom the controversy with Harvard was brought, was asked yesterday afternoon what new developments there are in the case.

He said that the controversy was all over and that the letters published tell the whole story. He also stated that there would be no game between Yale and Harvard this year, as Yale would not recede from her position. As to the future developments he said that it was impossible to predict what would happen.

After the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting the directors met and declared a dividend of 4 per cent., payable July 3. The directors elected the following officers: E. Hayes Trowbridge, president; Charles P. Clark, vice president; W. L. Squires, treasurer; W. E. Barnett, secretary.

New Haven's First Mayor.

A fine oil painting of Roger Sherman, the first mayor of New Haven, from 1784 to 1793, has just been hung on the walls of the aldermanic chamber. The cost of the painting was defrayed by a special appropriation recently ordered by the court of common council.

Entertainment by Boys' Brigade.

The Sixth company, Boys' Brigade, will have an entertainment Friday, June 14, at their drill room, Davenport church chapel, corner of Academy and Greene streets. A most enjoyable time will be had by all those who are able to attend. Tickets can be obtained of members of the company or at the door. Strawberry lunch will be served at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Olney's Trial.

Willimantic, June 3.—The trial of School Fund Commissioner Olney opens in the superior court in this city tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Judge Elmer of Middletown will probably sit on the case. It is expected to be the most important trial that will take place in this state this year, and the best legal talent in Connecticut has been engaged to conduct it.

State Attorney Hunter of this city will prosecute and will be assisted by Charles E. Perkins of Hartford, and Charles F. Thayer of Norwich. The accused will be defended by the Hon. Henry C. Robinson and Charles J. Cole of Hartford.

It is understood that fifteen witnesses from Ohio will arrive to testify against Mr. Olney. A large number of witnesses have also been subpoenaed from Massachusetts and different parts of this state. The charge against Olney is that as a public officer he received more than his fixed salary and unlawfully took fees and commissions.
